- We will sleep on hammocks in village huts, showers are limited and we will cook our own food.

Since the early 1980's, VPC has supported Accion Ministries, headed by the Oscar Dorantes Family, by sending high school and college students along with supervising adults to small villages in the Yucatan State of Mexico. As guests of selected Mayan congregations, we have worked together with these gentle people to build church roofs and floors, conducted Vacation Bible Schools, operated an eye-glass ministry, run a sports ministry, as well as participate in worship activities with the congregation.

We live in huts of the families, sleep in Mayan hammocks, and participate in a variety of village and cultural activities. We make time for our spiritual growth through regular worship, music and drama. There is a wonderful opportunity to use and practice Spanish although it is not required.

The trip is physically and mentally challenging, living in heat and primitive conditions. However, we always seem to find a lagoon, beach, or cenote as well as Mayan ruins to visit. Recreation on the final day will be in Cancun. This trip is a blessing to us as well as to those we serve. See for yourself! Visit their website at www.friendsofaccion.org

Adult Leaders

Adults are participants as well as being responsible for supervising students. All participants of this trip will be asked to consider how they can use their gifts to lead and serve. Please let John or Marna know if there is a particular area of leadership that interests you.

There will be mandatory meetings:
May 7
June 11
June 25
